Among the most rampant threats engulfing our children are child sex trafficking, sextortion, and online sexual enticements—crimes that are mutating into chilling new forms with alarming speed. In Siskiyou County, the risks are intensified by geographic and social isolation, leaving local youth especially vulnerable. This training empowers parents, educators, professionals, and community leaders with the knowledge to recognize, prevent, and respond to these intensifying threats. You'll leave with both a foundational understanding and up-to-the-minute insight into one of the most urgent child safety issues of our time.
